PETITE FRITURE

AMANDINE CHHOR
& AÏSSA LOGEROT

Amandine Chhor (born in 1983) and Aissa Logerot (born in 1981) are both graduates of Ensci Les Ateliers ; they have been collaborating for over two years on projects that aim to sustain crafts in developing countries. They also work individually, Amandine in the R&D department of Hermès, and Aissa as an independent designer.

« As we are complementary in our work and share the same idea on design, we have worked on a range of tables for Petite Friture, initially thought for crafts, and today re-adapted to be produced in series. »

HOLLO...
ACCORDING TO ITS DESIGNERS :

« The HOLLO range plays with gaps, rhythmical lines and full surfaces : they alternatively catch our eye, and let it go. Simple, with only one material, these tables use industrial codes and give priority to usage and function. »

Amandine Chhor and Aissa Logerot used a band of steel to develop a series of tables in rhythmic lines. Their simple and solid allure, combined with their stability and epoxy coating mean that the HOLLO tables can be used both indoors and out.
